

Inspired Teaching Institute for Secondary Teachers

This course is facilitated by Center for Inspired Teaching. It is FREE for educators. Grad Credit Available.

Share your passion for your content. • Develop new strategies. • Explore teaching with the Common Core. • Connect with other innovative educators.

July 5-15, 2011 • 9 am to 3 pm M-F • Includes a practicum during the 2011-2012 school year

Reawaken your love of learning.

“In today's wired world, you can get information on teaching anything to anyone but before this course, no one else had ever asked me to question if the 'accepted' teaching methods truly serve our children and our future in the first place.”
~ 2010 Participant

“Simply put: the most enlightening professional training I've experienced in my entire 15 years of teaching.”
~ 2010 Participant

“The Inspired Teaching Institute gives you a deeper and broader understanding of how and why we teach. Today I feel more evolved as an educator.”
~ 2010 Participant

“Before coming here I thought I'd developed a really strong understanding of what 'teaching' meant. This course completely tore those notions apart and opened my world up to countless wonderful possibilities.”
~ 2010 Participant

Location: Georgetown Day School 1400 Davenport St. NW • WDC

Learn more and download an application:
www.inspiredteaching.org

Questions? Contact Jenna Fournel: 202.462.1956 jenna@inspiredteaching.org